Many Christians fall victim to one of two main problems when it comes to work: either they are idle in their work, or they have made an idol of it. Both of these mindsets are deadly misunderstandings of how God intends for us to think about our employment.

In The Gospel at Work, Sebastian Traeger and Greg Gilbert unpack the powerful ways in which the gospel can transform how we do what we do, releasing us from the cultural pressures of both an all-consuming devotion and a punch-in, punch-out mentality - in order to find the freedom of a work ethic rooted in serving Christ.

You'll find answers to some of the tough questions that Christians in the workplace often ask:

What factors should matter most in choosing a job? What gospel principles should shape my thinking about how to treat my boss, my co-workers, and my employees? Is full-time Christian work more valuable than my job? Is it okay to be motivated by money? How do you prioritize - or balance - work, family and church responsibilities? Solidly grounded in the gospel, The Gospel at Work confronts both our idleness at work and our idolatry of work with a challenge of its own - to remember that whom we work for is infinitely more important than what we do.

Gilbert Free eBook PDF/ePub/Mobi/Mp3/Txt, The regular type of help documentation is really a hard copy manual that's printed, nicely bound, and functional. It operates as a reference manual - skim the TOC or index, get the page, and stick to the directions detail by detail. The challenge using these sorts of documents is the fact that user manuals can often become jumbled and hard to understand. And in order to fix this problem, writers can try and employ things I call "go over here" ways to minimize the wordiness and simplify this content. I've found this approach to be extremely ineffective most of the time. Why? Because the gospel at work are considered unsuitable to get flipped through ten times for just one task. That is what online assistance is for.
